The definition, Age management.

Age management promotes longer and better quality working life across the life-course in a way that is favourable for employers as well as individuals and society.

That means that Age Management is not only a matter of the elderly work force, it is for everyone, e.g. transfer of knowledge effects both older and younger workers.

European Age Management Network (EAMN)

The Network vision

To develop and extend the concept of age management to a common understanding as a mechanism to successfully embrace demographic changes facing the labour market across the life-course.

To promote age management in practice at the levels of the individual, enterprise and society.
